GOAL 17: PARTNERSHIPS FOR THE GOALS

Neja Fröhlich, Rebeka Tompa

ABOUT THE GOAL

- Sustainable development goals can only be achieved through strong global partnerships and cooperation
- Its main purpose is to strengthen the ways and means to achieve the goals
- 19 targets for 5 categories: technology and science, finance, capacity development, trade and systemic issues

TECHNOLOGY AND SCIENCE

- Research, development, deployment and widespread dissemination of environmentally friendly technologies
- Strengthening the scientific basis for sustainable management and improving scientific understanding

FINANCE

- Targets mostly regard the developing countries
- Providing financial support to countries and accelerating their development

CAPACITY DEVELOPMENT

- Strengthening and maintaining the capacity of countries and societies to formulate and implement strategies
- integrating the 2030 Agenda and SDGs into national contexts, exchanging plans and good practices

TRADE

- Universal, rules-based, open, non-discriminatory and impartial multilateral trading system
- Significantly increase the exports of developing countries

SYSTEMIC ISSUES

A chalkboard filled with various business and technical sketches. At the top, the word 'SUCCESS' is written in a cloud. Below it, there are several flowcharts and diagrams. One diagram shows a hierarchy with 'DEPT' at the top, followed by 'PROCESS', 'TEAM', 'COMMUNITY', 'GROUP', and 'IDEA'. Another diagram shows a flow from 'MEDIA' to 'IDEA' to 'INNOVATION'. There are also sketches of lightbulbs, some with rays emanating from them, and various other business-related icons like a bar chart, a pie chart, and a person sitting at a desk. A person in a suit is standing in front of the chalkboard, looking at the sketches.

- The interconnections and integration of the sustainable development goals are crucial in ensuring that the purpose of the new Agenda is achieved
- Integrating approach: identifying potential synergies, trade-offs, developing specific approaches to ensure effective implementation

GOAL IN SLOVENIA

- It is financed by national and international sources
- Implementation of various projects and programs
- Regional and urban development, employment and social inclusion, agriculture and rural development, research, innovation and humanitarian aid

CONCLUDING THOUGHTS

- The pandemic has focused attention on the crucial role of global partnerships
- Cooperation is needed at local, European and global levels
